To Whom It May Concern:

At the request of Terra Firma, Inc. I am writing this letter of recommendation for Ron and Tamara.

It is my understanding they are trying to qualify as a soils testing agency for some future project. I cannot think of better firm.

I have known both Ron and Tamara since their days of working for EBA Engineering. When I first met Ron while at EBA, I quickly became impressed with his knowledge in the field and his skills at documentation. The first year they began Terra Firma, a problem on a GMC project came up. With out going into great depths, GMC was called on the carpet by the owners and their Engineers to answer questions about procedure, performance and meeting contract requirements. During the meeting Ron brought forth his documentation of the job, testing procedures and GMC's performance and all the issues of the owners were settled in a matter of minutes. Every one was completely satisfied that their problems and issues were answered. After the meeting, I could not help thinking to my self "Man is this guy a professional".

GMC has worked with all of the soils agencies in the this area and I cannot recommend any firm as more qualified than Terra Firma. They are not the biggest firm in the area, but between Tamara and Ron, I believe that if they need to step it up another level to handle a very large project they have the skills and management capabilities to do get it done and done professionally.

Sincerely,

Greg Clayton
